“This is a big, juicy hit of dark-berried flavour. Talk about take no prisoners. However, it’s chains of tannin elevate it beyond ‘fruit-bomb’ status. Blackberry, tar, coal, chocolate and hay, its heart rich and smooth and its structure firm. Indeed, there is a lot of grip here, and a lot of flavour – on a cold night, it would taste superb.”

“The best wine yet under this label is juicy, rich and generous, with a spicy, smoky presence of concentrated plums, blackberries and blueberries handsomely partnered by sweet, smoky cedar/vanilla oak. It’s smooth and lusciously ripened, with a regional sour-edged aspect and a polished underswell of tannins.”

WINESTATE AUG 09

“Oak-driven wine but it has good weight of delicious fleshy rhubarb/red berry fruits.”

WINESTATE JUL/AUG 10

“Smells of plums and toasty oak, with nice malty complexity. Black olive fruit palate with ripe tannins.”
