“...Plums and cherries (slightly lighter flavours than you might expect) are matched to obvious, but delicious, oak notes of cedarwood and fresh sawdust. It’s tangy but intense, and saves the best part to last it has excellent persistence and lovely fine-grained tannin. Excellent fruit purity here.”

THE WEST AUSTRALIAN Ray Jordan, JUL 2011

“This wine is starting to emerge from a period of dormancy and revealing some very attractive characters. It has a rich vibrant palate with lots of dense warm fruit working well with plenty of oak. Acid plays an important role on the finish. Tannins are firm and sinewy.”
